ABOUT THE BRITISH AUTOMOBILE RACING CLUB

Today's organising club — the British Automobile Racing Club — is one of the largest and most active motor sporting clubs in the world. The Club was founded in 1912 as the Cycle Car Club and changed its name in 1919 to the Junior Car Club, and was responsible for the series of 200 mile races at Brooklands and Donington which were the first major long distance races in this country. In 1946 the Club amalgamated with the Brooklands Automobile Racing Club and in 1949 became the British Automobile Racing Club. The Club has organised the British Grands Prix at Aintree and was responsible for reviving the Tourist Trophy at Goodwood in 1958. Today the Club has over 10,000 members spread throughout the world and each year organises over 150 competitive events. In addition the Club receives invitations to over 400 events organised by other clubs in each year, so that BARC membership serves as a passport to the lion's share of motoring sport organised in Great Britain.

In order to cope with this very large programme the Club employs a full time staff at the Headquarters in London which is responsible for running the principal race meetings and administering the Club. There are 10 regional centres, each of which runs a full programme of competitive and social activities. Through the Centres the BARC is the leading organiser of hill climbs, promoting and organising 20 events during the season, several of these being National events qualifying for the RAC Hill Climb Championship, and others being qualifying rounds of the Club's own championships.

The Club promotes and organises five Club racing championships — The Osram-GEC, BARC Special Saloon Car Championship, the Motoring News GT Championship, the Fred W. Dixon Production Sports Car Championship and the Clubman's Formula Championship. At the Club's International race meetings qualifying rounds of British and European International Championships are staged.

In addition to the opportunity to take part, assist or spectate at the Club's events members receive the BARC NEWS, the Club's monthly newspaper, and Centre members regularly receive the Centre circular which keeps them abreast of BARC events both competitive and social in their area. Membership of the BARC is thus essential to the true motor sporting enthusiast.
