Drag Racing originated from the streets of Southern Californian towns in the late 'forties when the local Hot Rodders started racing one another from one set of traffic lights to the next. It quickly progressed to more organised racing on disused airfields and was introduced to this country in the early sixties. Drag Racing has now developed into a highly competitive sport that caters for all types of cars and bikes, from sophisticated nitro-burning 200 mph dragsters to standard everyday street cars. Put simply, a drag race is two cars or bikes racing each other from a standing start over a measured 1/4 mile. Both time and speed are electronically calculated but the winner is the first car over the finish line.

We recommend that for greater details of the rules and classes of cars and how the eliminations work you may care to purchase a copy of the N.D.R.C. Rule Book at the N.D.R.C. Sales Booth in the spectator area.

At most N.D.R.C. races there will be an additional attraction of a Street Rod and Custom Car display and parade. These street driven machines have a close affinity to the race cars and bikes on the drag strip.
